LETTER GOLF

KEEP THEM CLEAN

It's only six strokes from NOSE to EARS, but little Willie evidently thinks it's a thousand. He just won't wash his ears any more. If you can't make it in six or better, turn to the par solution on Page 15.

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and to do it in a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes. COW. HOW. HEV. HEN.
- 2—You can change only one letter at a time.
- 3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each jump. Sing words and abbreviations don't count.
- 4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

MAYOR HEADS DRIVE FOR SALVATION ARMY

Chief Executive Says Army Reaches Great Mass of People Not Touched by Church

"The work of the Salvation Army is designed to reach the unreached," according to Mayor Albert C. Rule, who has been chosen chairman of the Salvation Army Home Service Appeal to be conducted in Appleton and Outagamie co. Nov. 14 to 26. "They serve the homeless, the helpless, and the friendless, the sick, the discouraged, the unemployed, the criminal on the street and in the prisons, the wandering boy or girl, and the great mass of people in this country who are not reached by any church. The Army has trained workers who give their lives to this service and know from long experience how to deal ably with human life. They have asked us to be partners with them in this service of helpfulness, and raise $4,000 to finance the work during the next year. I believe the people of this city will be glad to cooperate."

The Appleton organization has carried out extensive social work in Appleton for a number of years just as the national organization has carried on work all over the country. In the state of Wisconsin over 40,000 people appeal to the Salvation Army yearly for aid. Subscriptions for the annual drive can be mailed to L. O. Wissman, campaign treasurer at the First National Bank.

Three Pied Pipers Here To Lead Rats To Destruction

Appleton is to be rid of all its rats. Three Pied Pipers have arrived and will begin an extensive campaign for the extermination of mice and rats. Miss Evelyn Wagar, Forest River, N. D., Miss Helen Caldwell and L. E. Caldwell, both of Huntington, W. Va., started their rat-ridding campaign Monday.

The trio has directed these campaigns for five years and have worked in practically every state in the union. Their program has been endorsed by Frank Doherty, city health officer.

"Each rat costs the community $1.82 in food value during the year," said Miss Wagar. Two rats to every person exist in the country, according to statistics made out by the Bureau of Biological survey of the United States government, she said.

Instruction in the use of barium carbonate, the regular United States government formula for rat extermination, will be the objective of the three professional rat exterminators. Barium carbonate is the exterminator and is set with bait of fish, meat, or a vegetable. The rats do not die in places where it is difficult to find them, for as soon as the poison begins to work they go out into the open to obtain air.

How Mrs. Weaver WAS HELPED

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

As Mrs. Weaver herself says: "I was never very strong. This is a mild statement describing my condition, for, according to her letters, she was subjected to no small amount of ill health. Fortunately, her sister was familiar with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged Mrs. Weaver to try it. 'After three or four weeks,' writes Mrs. Weaver, 'I felt a great difference in myself. I would go to bed and sleep sound, and although I could not do very much work, I seemed stronger. I kept on taking it and now I am well and strong, do my work and take care of three children. I sure do tell my friends about your wonderful medicine, and I will answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound.'—Mrs. LAWRENCE WEAVER, East Smithfield St., Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

If you knew that thousands of women suffering from troubles similar to those you are enduring had improved their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, wouldn't you think it was worth a trial?

STATE INCOME TAX PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE IN APPLETON

County Treasurer Declares
That She Will Need Extra
Room and Extra Help

Unless some provision is made other than now exists under the new state income tax law, all citizens of Outagamie-co who will be taxed under the new law will have to come to Appleton next June to make their payments. That is the way the new law is interpreted by Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, on whose shoulders the burden of the collection will fall following the change made in the legislation at the last session of the legislature.

Miss Ziegenhagen declared that she probably will need much more office help than at present. She declares that her present quarters would not be sufficiently large to accommodate more assistants and equipment needed for collection. Miss Ziegenhagen has pointed out to several county board committees the need to provide more room for her office if she is to collect this tax, but up to the present time she does not know whether any definite plans for solution of her difficulty had been made.

CHANGE SYSTEM.
The new law specifies that all collections shall be made by county treasurers as under the old law. Therefore, unless some later provisions are made, all persons living in the county will have to visit the courthouse to pay their tax.

Already a rather complicated matter, the new statute does not simplify the situation, although it does not give the income tax payer more time in which to make the payment.

According to the county treasurer, local citizens will not be called upon to pay an income tax at all this year, but on June 1, 1928, they will have to pay on the basis of both their 1926 and 1927 incomes.

In other words, an average will be struck between the two incomes he said, and the taxpayer will contribute on that basis. The following year, an average between the three preceding years will be struck and used as the basis for computation of the tax.

Some changes have been made in the exemptions, also making it even more complicated than in previous years.

In view of the large amount of extension work that will be thrown upon the treasurer's office during collection time, it is expected that the county board will have to provide additional help. This matter will likely come before the November session.

Mr. Larabee points out that, while taxpayers will have until June 1 to make their payments, the tax will have to be paid within thirty days from that date or a penalty will be attached.

For farmers living in the outlying districts of the county, this may prove a hardship unless additional collection points are established.

ALL NOTED DAYS ARE LISTED IN DIRECTORY

Madison, (P)—Often wanted but seldom remembered dates are all noted in a book that is now before the American Library association, and is expected soon to be available in Wisconsin, the state Library Bulletin, soon to be published, says.

An inquiry that appeared recently in the Boston manuscript reveals some of the dates that are to be in the new book. It said:

"Will you please publish or tell me where I can find a calendar of noteworthy days in the United States, as April 3, 1783, birth of Washington Irving; April 6, 1905, Peary discovered North Pole; April 23, 1858, first steamships across Atlantic?"

The book is said to "answer every possible question having to do with a date or a feast or a celebration. From the idea of March to the date of Lindbergh's flight no day of significance has been omitted from this exhaustive compilation. One may turn quickly to Paul Revere's ride, or the first use of camouflage, or the Feast of Epiphany, or the recent opening of the Panama Canal and find the day on which each occurred. The book will be published in January, 1928."

Manila is to have a season of American grand opera.

CHILDREN ARE WARNED AGAINST SORE THROATS

Precautions should be taken by parents to keep watch of any infections of the throat, however small, according to a bulletin of the state board of health.

Diphtheria sometimes resembles an ordinary sore throat or croup. The parent may not realize that the child is very ill until two or three days have passed and diphtheria is firmly fastened upon it, according to the pamphlets which were distributed to school children this week.

Toxin-antitoxin is less potent at this time than if used on the first day. The use of toxin-antitoxin as immunization is especially advocated as a preventive measure. Three doses or injections last for many years or a lifetime.

RACINE MAN WILL BE KIWANIS CLUB GUEST

Appleton Kiwanians will entertain Henry J. Rogers, Racine, treasurer of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district of the club, at the regular meeting Wednesday noon, Nov. 16, at the Conway hotel. Mr. Rogers is the father of Dr. Ronald Rogers of Neenah. The Neenah and Menasha clubs will be invited to attend the meeting in place of their regular meetings on Tuesday.

Doctor at 83 Finds People Still Prefer His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

NEENAH TEAM LOSES HARD FOUGHT GAME

Scores Twice but Two Rivers Manages to Win by Count of 12 to 9

Neenah—The high school football team was defeated Saturday afternoon by the Two Rivers high school team by a score of 12 to 9 before a fair sized crowd.

Neenah's first two points were made early in the first quarter when Schneller, end man, attempted a place kick on Two Rivers' 30-yard line. The Two Rivers safety man touched the ball as it rolled over the goal line where it was stopped by Haase. Neenah's right end.

The next points were made on a touchdown by Radtke, who recovered the ball after it had been dropped by a Two Rivers man and sprinted 40 yards to score. Schneller kicked for the extra point.

The Two Rivers team secured its points with a pass and an end run for 40 yards by Koprowski, end, and a plunge by Rosey through Neenah's line, followed by a 50 yard dash to the goal. In both cases Two Rivers failed to make the extra points.

Neenah was close to another touchdown when the game ended, the ball being on Two Rivers' 29-yard line. Schneller attempted a place kick but failed to receive the ball from center when it struck the ground and bounded into the air. He recovered it and attempted to run the few yards to the goal but was downed as the whistle ended the game. One other time during the last quarter Schneller punted 70 yards. The ball was fumbled by a Two Rivers player and Haase recovered it. He was within 10 yards of the goal when he fell.

Head Colds Often Develop Into Dangerous Infections

Madison—Acute infections of the throat, nose and ears such as tonsillitis, "colds in the head" and abscesses in the ears are conditions which many mothers encounter in their children during the early winter months, according to the health committee bulletin of the State Medical Society issued today.

"Head colds" are undoubtedly the most frequent illness of children and is one which is given little consideration by parents until complications have arisen. It is true that only a small percent of children who have infections in the nose and throat develop complications, but a great many of that small percent of complications could be avoided if proper observation and treatment is instituted during the early stages of the infection.

"The usual course of the upper respiratory infections is as follows—the onset being what is commonly called a 'cold in the nose' characterized by stuffiness of the nasal passages and nasal discharge which at first is a thin watery secretion and which later becomes thick and mucoid in nature, declares the bulletin.

"Within two or three days soreness of the throat develops which is due to either an extension of the infection into the passage between the nose and throat or into the tonsils or both. COMPLICATIONS BEGIN "At this stage of the infection complications begin to arise, such as abscesses of the tonsils (commonly called quinsy), abscesses of the middle ear cavity and extension of the infection into the accessory nasal sinuses and bronchitis or pneumonia.

"Early treatment of infection of the upper respiratory is absolutely essential in shortening the duration of the infection and in preventing the above mentioned complications.

"Treatment of colds vary widely. One treatment often used during the early stage of the infection in the nose is as follows:

"Argyrol 25 per cent dropped into each side of the nose in sufficient quantity to run back into the throat, three times daily. Follow the introduction of the argyrol with an equal amount of mineral oil in the same manner. Cleanse the gastro-intestinal tract with a fairly active laxative. Hard blowing of the nose should never be done.

"If after using the above treatment for a period of 24 hours, especially with children, with no noticeable improvement, a physician should be consulted."

The Need For Glasses

By A. L. Koch, O. D., Appleton, Eye Specialist

The need for glasses is created by many different causes: Long-continued overexertion which sets up strain; lack of normality in the eyes dating from birth; natural deterioration of normal powers brought about by age. Whatever the cause of poor vision, the pricelessness of good vision is recognized and the necessity for proper care is clearly important.

Lenses made and fitted after a careful examination correct the eye-errors and make clearer and comfortable. Moreover, the relief afforded and the more normal functioning permitted, conserves the natural powers, and in cases of children, many times, prudence recommends regular eye examinations. We devote ourselves exclusively to examining eyes and prescribing lenses for the correction of defective vision.

NEW BARGE LINE TO CONNECT PITTSBURG AND UPPER VALLEY

Newspaper Article Quotes
Statement Made by St.
Louis Writer

A Pittsburg, Pa., newspaper a few days ago published the statement of a Donald T. Wright, St. Louis, who recently stated that "another barge line is projected to run from Green Bay to Prairie du Chien and connect with the upper Mississippi barge line in the near future. The statement was made in connection with the opening of barge lines on the upper Mississippi and implied that traffic would be routed up the Wisconsin river to Portage through the new concrete lock being erected there, into the upper Fox river, and through Lake Winnebago to the lower river. Mr. Wright had apparently finished an inspection trip of the river and lower Fox rivers and believed the project could be put over.

The agitation for this improvement of the Fox-Wisconsin waterway had as early as 1820, four years after the opening of the Erie canal, and in 1849, twenty years after the agitation began, the state of Wisconsin commenced work upon the improvement. In 1856 it was possible for a small steamboat the Aquila to come from Pittsburg by way of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers ascend the Wisconsin to Portage at a time of high water, traverse the Portage canal and descend the Fox river to Green Bay. This successful navigation of the entire waterway by a steamboat from Pittsburg was the cause of great rejoicing at that time.

The Pittsburg paper is quoted as follows:

"Mr. Wright is quite a practical man before becoming the editor of his present paper, the Waterways Journal. He was a licensed master and pilot and a former head clerk (season of 1914) on The Morning Star between Davenport and St. Paul. He is well posted on boats and waterway affairs everywhere and the local waterway committee feels indebted to Editor Wright for what he said while at Pittsburg about the Portage water route. Let's hope that another steamboat from Pittsburg will come to Portage in the early spring of 1928 as the route now can be traversed from Pittsburg to Portage by way of the Ohio, Mississippi and Wisconsin rivers. With the removal of a few sand bars in the upper Fox river the route will be opened to Green Bay. Had the plans laid out by Maj. John J. Kingman, our present United States district engineer at Milwaukee, not been interfered with, the entire route would have been opened now according to the promises that the major made in the early spring of 1927."

NEW SCOUT HANDBOOK WILL BE READY SOON

Wide Range of Information Is

A new scout handbook to take the place of the issue which was printed in 27 editions and was exceeded in sales only by the Bible, will be ready for Boy Scouts and executives with in the next few days according to information received here by Alvin G. Clarr, valley scout executive. The first edition of the new book will be of 636 pages as compared with 192 pages in the first hand book. One hundred and fifty books of the new edition have been ordered for valley scouts and those persons who will take the scout leadership course beginning Nov. 18.

The cover design by Norman Rockwell shows the picture of an idealized boy—a Scout—in the foreground. In the background, are the faces of famous pioneers, Daniel Boone, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Abraham Lincoln, theodore Roosevelt, and the newest pioneer of them all, Landberg.

The new handbook embraces a wide range of information. The articles cover many phases of the activities of boy scouts with reference to the executive training program of the movement. Much of the material in the former handbook, time tested and proved, has been covered in new articles and new treatments of old subjects. Boy scouts now have 76 merit badge subjects as the basis for achievement and the new handbook takes up each of these in turn. With the special handbooks for the several merit badge subjects, the manual of scouting and the publications for farm, rural, and Lone scouts, and its magazine, Boys' Life, the boy scouts of America have set up a considerable literature for boys.

Politicians Find Ways Of "Helping" Their Friends

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington.—Most Washington wood piles harbor Senegambians. Take the case of the prohibition enforcement service. Millions of persons are sleeping peacefully tonight, securely confident that enforcement has now been taken out of politics by putting the administrators, inspectors and agents under civil service.

That was the idea wasn't it? To put everything on a basis of pure merit and weed out all the grafters who held their jobs by politics alone? Somehow, it seemed too good to be true. And so, apparently, it was. The civil service does its part—it weeds out the obvious imbeciles and the known criminals from the applicants. Then it presents a list of eligibles consisting of those who have passed the examinations. There are always more eligibles than jobs—when the jobs are sought after as enforcement jobs are. So the eligible who has political pull gets the job, as enforcement heads in past years can probably get you a congressman to urge a re-examination on the ground that the eligibles aren't satisfactory.

SMART GRAFTERS
Having flunked one examination you'll have a good enough idea of what the re-examination will be like and if you can pass it you won't have to worry about the five or six fellows who passed with better marks. If you can't pass the re-examination you might as well try for a job with the city or get yourself elected to the state legislature.

Most of the incumbent prohibition agents entered the recent exams and many of them pulled through. The prohibition enforcement service will not be such a paradise for bungling grafters so stupid as to get caught at it, but it may continue to be a hunting ground for those who are smart enough to get away with it. And a smart grafter can make more than a dumb grafter any day. Assistant Secretary Lowman, however, says that the grafters are being chased out in droves and it is possible to replace them with honest men the situation should improve.

Speaking of prohibition, here's the latest alibi for border rum-runners. A man and a woman were caught with an automobile in Montana near the Canadian line driving an automobile more or less loaded with liquor. Placed on trial at Great Falls they advanced the defense that they had become lost in the dark and had wandered over into Montana by mistake. They said they supposed they were on Canadian soil until their arrest.

Whether their story was proved true whether they were acquitted because it was such a good one or whether the went to the hoosegow has not yet reached the ears of your correspondent. One may now expect to hear captains of rum ships complain that the compass fell overboard and that they assumed they were in the States of Michigan when the coast guard came along and captured them within the 12-mile limit.

Unofficial reports from the international radio-telegraph conference say that foreign delegates representing 70 nations regret their lack of foreview in failing to bank along enough private liquor for the months of their stay here. Apparently most of them had heard that prohibition here was non-existent and supposed that the United States government would do the honors in that respect even if unconstitutionally. Now many of the poor fellows are going around to the embassies or legations of their countries with their tongues hanging out or depending on the mercy of such other friends as they acquire.

One observer suggests that the conference is likely to drag on indefinitely however, as the delegates are so well treated otherwise. The governments take care of hotel bills of course. Our government provides them with automobiles sees that they have a free luncheon daily at the Carlton hotel, serves tea and sandwiches in the patio of the Chamber of Commerce building every afternoon and in other ways helps make life more pleasant and enjoyable.

Their condition is in marked contrast to that of the Italian left com-

$197,429 STATE AID FOR OUTAGAMIE-CO

Tentative Estimate Is About
$27,000 Higher Than Last Year

Outagamie co. will receive $197,429 state aid for highways in 1928 according to a tentative estimate received this week by the county highway commission from the state highway body. This is approximately $27,000 more than in 1927 when the county received $169,613.34 state aid. While the figure received at this time is only tentative, it is believed that the county probably will receive a sum several thousand dollars higher than the present estimate, which is usually lower than the actual cost.

The tentative estimate for 1928 includes $111,064.20 which is to be used to pave highway 54 from Black Creek to New London. Last year the county received a state allotment for improvements of $88,553.54 used in paving highways 26 and 10. State aid in maintenance of the county trunk roads total $27,768.95 in 1928 as compared with $23,150.70 this year. The estimate for state trunk highway maintenance is $55,599.10, the same as in 1927.

SHERIFF DISREGARDS ALL COMPLAINTS NOT SIGNED BY WRITERS

Sheriff Otto Zuehlke said Wednesday that all unsigned complaints received at his office are disregarded and he advises citizens of Outagamie-co who wish to make complaints to do so in signed letters. Sheriff Zuehlke declared that during the past few months he has received several unsigned letters making complaints but he said these letters are given no attention.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

A woman's gloves and handbag are found at the scene of Benson's murder and Markham, tracing them to Miss St. Clair, has her brought to his office. She makes flimsy answers to his questions but betrays concern when Markham asks if Leacock had not owned a Colt .45, the same type of gun that killed Benson. Vance tells Markham he is certain of the girl's innocence. NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

"Naturally," Vance replied, "since it's an irrelevant factor in most crimes. Every one of us, my dear chap, has just as good a motive for killing at least a score of men, as the motives which actuate 99 crimes out of a hundred. And, when anyone is murdered, there are dozens of innocent people who had just as strong a motive for doing it as had the actual murderer."

"Really, y'know, the fact that a man has a motive is no evidence whatever that he's guilty,—such motives are too universal a possession of the human race."

"Suspecting a man of murder because he has a motive is like suspecting a man of running away with another man's wife because he has two legs. The reason that some people kill and others don't is a matter of temperament — of individual psychology. It all comes back to that."

"And another thing; when a person does possess a real motive — something tremendous and overpowering — he's pretty apt to keep it to himself, to hide it and guard it carefully — eh, what? He may even have disguised the motive through years of preparation; or the motive may have been born within five minutes of the crime through the unexpected discovery of facts a decade old."

"So — if you see, the absence of any apparent motive in a crime might be regarded as more incriminating than the presence of one."

"You are going to have some difficulty in eliminating the idea of culpability from the consideration of crime."

"I dare say," agreed Vance. "The idea of culpability is just silly enough to be impracticable. And yet, many persons would be benefited by almost anyone's death. Kill Sumner and, on that theory, you could arrest the entire membership of the Authors' League."

"Opportunity, at any rate," persisted Markham, "is an insuperable factor in crime, — and by opportunity, I mean that affinity of circumstances and conditions which make a particular crime possible, feasible and convenient for a particular person."

"Another irrelevant factor," asserted Vance. "Think of the opportunities we have every day to murder people we dislike."

"Only the other night I had 40 insufferable bores to dinner in my apartment — a social devoir. But I refrained — with considerable effort."

I admit — from putting arsenic in the Ponlet Canteen.
"The Borgolus and I, y' see, merely belong in different psychological categories. On the other hand, had I been resolved to do murder, I would have created my own opportunity. . . . And there's the rub — one can either make an opportunity or disguise the fact that he had it, with false alibis and various other tricks."

"You remember the case of the murderer who called the police to break into his victim's house before the latter had been killed, saying he suspected foul play; and who then preceded the policeman indoors and stabbed the man as they were trailing up the stairs."

"Well, what of actual proximity, or presence — the proof of a person being on the scene of the crime at the time it was committed?"

"Again misleading," Vance declared. "An innocent person's presence is too often used as a shield by the real murderer who is actually absent. A clever criminal can commit a crime from a distance through an agency that is present."

"Also, a clever criminal can arrange an alibi and then go to the scene of the crime disguised and unrecognized. There are far too many convincing ways of being present when one is believed to be absent — and vice versa."

"But we can never part from our individualities and our natures. And that is why all crime inevitably comes back to human psychology — the one fixed, undisguisable basis of deduction."

"It's a wonder to me," said Markham, "in view of your theories, that you don't advocate dismissing nine-tenths of the police force and installing a gross or two of those psychological machines so popular with the Sunday Supplement editor."

Vance smoked a minute meditatively.

"I've read about 'em. Intriguing toys. They can no doubt indicate a certain augmented emotional stress when the patient transfers his attention from pious platitudes to a problem in spherical trigonometry. But if an innocent person were harnessed up to the various tubes, galvanometers, electro-magnets, glass plates, and brass knobs of one of these apparatuses, and then quizzed about some recent crime, your individual needle would cavort about like a Russian ballet dancer as a result of sheer nervous panic on the patient's part."

Markham smiled patronizingly. "And I suppose the needle would remain static with a guilty person in contact?"

"Oh, on the contrary," Vance's tone was unflinching. "The needle would bob up and down just the same — but not because he was guilty."

"If he was stupid, for instance, the needle would jump as a result of his resentment at a seemingly newfangled third-degree torture. And if he was intelligent, the suppressed mirth at the puerility of the legal mind for indulging in such nonsense."

"You move me deeply," said Markham. "My head is swimming like a turbine. But there are those of us poor workings who believe that criminality is a defect of the brain."

"So it is," Vance readily agreed.

"But unfortunately the entire human race possesses the defect. The virtuous ones haven't. So to speak, the courage of their defects. . . . How, ever, if you were referring to a criminal type, then, alas! we must part company."

"It was Lombroso, that darling of the yellow journals, who invented the idea of the congenital criminal. Real scientists like DuBois, Karl Pearson and Goring have shot his idiotic theories full of holes."

"I am flattered by your erudition," declared Markham, as he signaled to a passing attendant and ordered another cigar. "I console myself, however, with the fact that, as a rule, murder will leak out."

Vance smoked his cigar in silence, looking thoughtfully out through the July June sky.

"Markham," he said at length, "the number of fantastic ideas extant about criminals is positively amazing."

"How a sane person can subscribe to that ancient hallucination that 'murder will out' is beyond me. It rarely 'outs' old dear. And if it did 'out,' why a homicide bureau? Why all this wildcat dowsing activity by the police whenever a body is found? . . . The poets are to blame for this bit of lunacy. Chaucer probably started it with his 'Morte wol out,' and Shake-speare helped it along by attributing to murder a miraculous organ that speaks in lieu of a tongue."

"It was some poet, too, no doubt, who conceived the fancy that carcasses bleed at the sight of the murderer."

"Would you, as the great protector of the faithful, dare tell the police to wait calmly in their offices or clubs, or favorite beauty-parlors — or wherever policemen do their waiting — until a murder 'outs'? Poor dear! — if you did, they'd ask the governor for your detention as a participant in the crime, or as a spy for a sanity hearing."

Markham granted good-naturedly.

He was busy cutting and binding his cigar.

"I don't know what case Vance was referring to, but there are several instances of this device on record, and writers of detective fiction have often used it. The latest instance is to be found in G. K. Chesterton's 'The Innocence of Father Brown.'"

"It was Pearson and Goring who about 20 years ago, made an extensive investigation and tabulation of professional criminals in England, the results of which showed (1) that criminal careers began mostly between the ages of 16 and 21; (2) that over 90 per cent of criminals were mentally normal; and (3) that more criminals had criminal older brothers than criminal fathers."

"Sir Basil Thomson, K. C. B., former assistant commissioner of metropolitan police, London, writing in The Saturday Evening Post several years after this conversation, said: 'Take, for example, the proverb that murder will out, which is employed whenever one out of many thousands of undiscovered murderers is caught through a chance coincidence that captures the popular imagination. It is because murder will not out that the pleasant shock of surprise when it does out calls for a proverb to enshrine the phenomenon. The poisoner who is brought to justice has almost invariably proved to have killed other victims without exciting suspicion until he has grown careless.'"

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The functions of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water — you can't drink too much — also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts are inexpensive; cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Better have it done now — make those old shoes do another season. Have them rebuilt. Don't put it off any longer — cold weather is here.

NEW FASHIONS

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BEAUTY HINTS

Versatility Is Chief Quality Of Sport's Latest Four-Piece Costume; Jean Patou Tells How New Idea Was Originated

BY JEAN PATOU
For NEA Service

PARIS—The influence and tendency of an epoch can better be traced in woman's dress, I think, than in any other form of art. This has been abundantly demonstrated throughout the ages.

Woman is a mirror in which both a period and its events are reflected. True, these events and tendencies may be somewhat exaggerated, in so far as woman is given to excess in most things pertaining to her own activities. When woman hits upon a theme whatever its nature, which has a strong appeal for her, she adopts it with an enthusiasm bordering on exaggeration.

SPORTS INFLUENCE

Take for instance the influence of sport on our present age. It was manifested in women's dress, as soon as woman took up outdoor sports, like golf and tennis, she began to once to demand clothes to suit the spirit. She found a new phase of life and had to have a new style of clothes. In vain did I try to regulate these to their proper sphere, but I found it impossible. Nothing would please women but the "genre sportif," and all their clothes reflected the spirit of the times. We made the best of an anomalous situation while it lasted with the assurance that in time women would regain their senses.

A CHANGED ORDER

Now the order of things has changed. Sports clothes have resumed their proper sphere and I am glad to see women realize that tea at the Ritz, for example, calls for a smart, more elaborate afternoon dress than they had been wearing something to suit a luxurious limousine rather than the long-favored sweater suit of the roadster or the golf course.

PRACTICAL, WELL DRESSED

I have carried the feminine in my present collection right through the sports section. Women can be practical in their clothes and at the same time well dressed. Without exaggerating any theme. This season I created the four-piece sports suits which are practical, smart, feminine and eminently suited to the end in view, whether it be a game of golf, a country house party or a morning's shopping in town.

Every detail has been a subject of long study and I think I have at last struck a theme which will appeal to the woman who dresses well and appropriately. At the same time it disregards the deplorable tendency, so noticeable a few seasons ago, to the "masculine" in women's dress.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE Tinkles stood and stared a while. Wee Coppy then began to smile. "I'd like to tap that barrel, but I'm just too scared to try. Just what will happen if that's true? I wish I knew what was inside." And all the others joined right in, and shouted, "So do I!"

Wee Clowzy then, in frightened tone, said, "Aw, let's leave the thing alone. What we don't know won't hurt us and I think I'll take no chance. The queer man who came out a smoke perhaps is just a crazy joke. In fact, I'll bet that all of us were merely in a trance."

"Oh, no we weren't! I'm here to say, I saw him just as plain as day," said Fouty. "And I feel quite sure that he was friendly, too. To tell the truth, I feel somehow, that if we tap that barrel now, no harm will come. Aw, yes, let's try. There's nothing else to do."

So up walked Campy, shy of fright, and he tapped the barrel.

"I think that Scout's right," said he. "And then he tapped the barrel, as the others gathered 'bout. They waited there in vain, and then Wee Coppy tapped the thing again. Said 'What's the matter? Not a thing as yet' hopped out."

And then a puff of smoke rose high. A voice exclaimed, "Oh, me, oh, my! You are too gentle with your tap. I fear you are afraid. Just bang it hard with all your might. Of course you've got to do this right, 'cause not a thing will happen if you make just one mistake."

"Why you're the man who left us alone," said Campy. "My, you do queer stunts." "You bet I am," the man replied. "I just came back to tell you that you are safe and sound. What's in that barrel can be found by tapping on it mightily hard. Now tap—and do it well!"

(Something comes out of the barrel in the next story.)

IT WAS A PEACEFUL VALLEY

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

IT was the kind of autumn day when even the paved highway seemed out of place.

One wanted to get out in the red and golden October world and roll in it as a cat rolls in catnip.

Not the hundred yards had we gone from the public trail, when there came a loud of us a covey of fat, round, top-tanned, too fat, or too fat to be fat, all three.

We stopped the car and they crossed in two's and three's to their cornfield gold thick with newly stacked shocks. There they kept up a continual conversation of cooing bird notes.

A covey of a mile along our road, one through a line of red maples, we came to a farm house. There was the smell of burning wood and the clack of a peep into the yard, and a woman came out. An old-fashioned copper kettle as big as a wash tub, hanging over a fire and a woman beside it stood stirring apple cider.

Further along a man was chopping wood. Winter had already reached the top of the hill where the darker brown of the trees gave evidence of hard night frosts.

At another place a man with a team and dog was scraping the dirt road. November rains could make burials of these people altogether if care was not taken to keep the way as clear as possible.

It was a long road and we passed many farm houses. Here and there was evidence of work and more work. No time for loitering and casual parties and dainties on the woman question. Man worked and woman helped him. Simple things that!

Is our "have growing out of a desire to shun work and a determination to substitute excitement for peace?" It seems a cheap substitute. It was a very peaceful valley.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

As the dinner progressed smoothly, transparent, octagon-shaped green crystal plates, smiled serenely upon them all. Cherry included, for she had caught a note of passionate championship in Bob's voice as he uttered his inconsequential remark, and her heart was suddenly healed of the hurt which Cherry had, in her jealousy, inflicted so ruthlessly.

Coffee was served in the living room, radio music from the Drake hotel in Chicago setting their feet to tapping before the tiny cups were emptied.

Bruce Patton set his coffee cup on the low Turkish table beside Faith's chair and bowed formally: "Shall we dance?"

NEXT: Cherry's jealousy precipitates a crisis.

Household Hints

SUEDE SHOES

Never clean suede shoes with a cloth. It matts the nap. Use a wire brush and always brush gently, with a circular movement.

EASY WHIPPING

An easy way to whip cream is to shake it in a beverage shaker. You can remove the top to ladle the cream out and none is lost in the whipping.

CABBAGE SMELLS

To avoid smelling the house up with cauliflower, cabbage or the like, either burn incense or boil a piece of bread tied in muslin, right with the vegetable.

REMOVE PAINT

Instead of working all year scraping paint, put on a pair of rubber gloves and use sparingly, one of the many good paint removers on the market.

MUFFIN TINS

Greased muffin tins are handy for baking apples, stuffed tomatoes, stuffed peppers and any individual creamed egg on toast dish.

A rose pink crepe georgette dinner gown has a beauteous and two tiers of the georgette trimmed intricately with pearls.

CHERRY BOW

PURSE SHAPES

Tucked purses, purses round, oblong, triangular and octagonal all take precedence over the old square or rectangular purses.

RUBY RED

An evening gown with swathed hips and full, irregular hemmed skirt and its accompanying evening wrap are both fashioned of ruby red velvet.

SALT LAKE CITY GIRL'S "BROWING" WINS FIRST PRIZE

Salt Lake City—(P)—Another girl of Zion has achieved fame!

Miss Ruth Harwood has been notified that her poem "Browsing" was chosen first in the Browning contest conducted by the National Poetry Society of America, New York.

Miss Harwood also is winning prizes for her art work as well as for her poetry. Some of her work is to be shown in the Arts Magazine at Stanford University.

This atom used to be considered the smallest thing in existence, but now it has been found to consist of smaller particles, protons and electrons.

PRAYER BEADS MADE MODE FOR TURKISH WOMEN

New York—(P)—Muslim prayer beads. American golf-breeches and complete personal freedom for herself and all Turkish women, are the chief hobbies of Hadije Selma Ekrem, a young Turkish aristocrat, now in the United States.

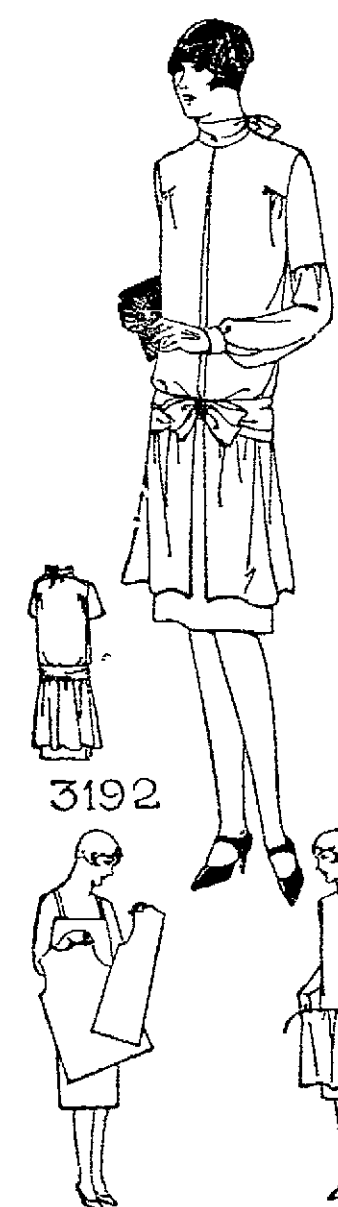

Her father His Excellency Governor General of Jerusalem and the Aegean islands, and her grandfather, Namik Kemal, a renowned poet and patriot, was exiled by the despot Abdul Hamid.

She is the only prominent Turkish girl who disregarded the law of the old regime requiring Moslem women to wear the veil and who, despite threats of imprisonment wore a hat.

In her Stamboul home and garden she wears American golf breeches, a costume which she avers combines the comfort of the old harem bloomers with the feeling of western freedom.

Prayer-beads have always been carried by men in Turkey, but never by women until Miss Ekrem made it the fashion.

"THE SOMERSET" BUILT TO SET OFF BOTH PEOPLE AND FLOWERS

ROOF aslant, window boxes in bloom, natural wood blinds and trimmings gleaming on white stucco and mottled brick, "The Somerset" features variety, symmetry and a pleasant comfortable appearance. Its interior justifies its first impression. Four wide front windows give cherry light to the 23-foot living room where a built-in fireplace does its bit. The dining room has both the high windows that allow wall space and some deep windows too. Even the breakfast nook furnishes variety by its location alongside of the back porch.

Against a house as substantial and good looking as this, vines, shrubs, flowers and trees of all kinds show up to great advantage. It costs from $5,000 to $6,000.

For further information concerning "The Somerset" write The Standard Homes Company, Colorado Building, Washington, D. C.

Became A Nervous Wreck Because Of Piles

Route 3 farmer couldn't sleep at night. Tells of wonderful relief brought by Drecto.

Drecto has never been recommended as a "pile cure" yet when this ailment is caused by constipation Drecto generally brings quick relief. This was the experience of Mr. John T. Schmidt, who has a nice farm on Route 3, Wisconsin. In a recent statement given to the Drecto man he says:

"I have been a sufferer from constipation for about a dozen years or more and the past couple of years this caused me to suffer from a severe case of itching piles. The piles would itch so badly at night that I couldn't get to sleep and as a result I became a nervous wreck and subject to terrible headaches."

"I have been taking Drecto for about six weeks now and at first, beyond the relief from headaches I did not notice a great deal of change. But after a month's treatment I certainly noticed a decided change in my condition and since then my bowels have been as regular as the clock and the piles gradually disappeared until now I am never troubled with them anymore. Drecto built me up in every way and did so much more for me than I expected that I am happy to recommend it to everyone."

Drecto is being specially introduced by Schlitz Bros. Drug Store and sold by druggists everywhere.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

Continuing this week the dissection of doubling situations which apply to both Auction Bridge and Contract Bridge and which occur under conditions more or less complicated, another series of ten hands will appear. Two are given today, and there will be two more each day until Friday inclusive. Beginning tomorrow and continuing each day until Saturday inclusive, a full explanation will be given of what should be done with each of the two hands stated on the preceding day. As usual, answer blanks will be provided each day, so that it is very easy to have another of the weekly tests or contests. It is a test when you fill up the blank each day, note the next day whether you have been right, and on Saturday see whether you have ten O. K.'s. It is a contest when you get one or more of your Bridge friends to do the same thing and compare your scores at the end of the week.

Today's hands illustrate an important principle in doubling which few understand fully. As a hint about the two hands which produce the bidding questions asked today and answered tomorrow, it can be stated as a general principle that an information double is not justified with less than five high cards that probably will take tricks, even when made in the most advantageous position (i. e., when the bidding is: South (Dealer) one No Trump, West double. And great as this requirement is, it is not sufficient to justify an information double when made in any other position. Remember this when determining what you would declare with each of the hands given today; they are held by North. South (Dealer) has passed. West has bid one No Trump, and the question is: What should North declare?

LAST WEEK OF DRILL FOR APPLETON GAME

Kawmen Hopeful of Giving Appleton Stiff Battle Next Saturday Afternoon

Kaukauna—Coach McAndrew's Northwestern Wisconsin conference football champions started their last week of preparation for the big game of the year with Appleton. The coach plans to give the squad a good stiff workout every evening until Friday. Barring accidents, this week every man on the team will be in good condition for the fray. The cripples on the squad have had a week in which to get their bruises healed. Two years ago Kaukauna walloped the College City team 12 to 0 and the year previous lost only by a 12 to 6 score with Farwell on the way. The other marker was the final whistle. Last year the Kawms made a good showing on their home field and Appleton ran up a large score. Coach McAndrews has moulded together a great team this year. The team easily took the conference championship being the only undefeated squad among the fifteen schools.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MEN'S CHORUS PROGRAM

Kaukauna—Several hundred people heard the program presented by the Kaukauna Men's chorus at the Brokaw Memorial Methodist church on Sunday evening. Edward Galmbacher of the Galmbacher School of Music played several violin selections. The following program was presented: Organ prelude, "Guns of Medici"; hymn, "Italian Hymn"; congregation; prayer, Rev. E. L. Worthman; chorus, "Star of the Summer Night" (Woodbury); "Christian Dost Thou See Them" (Dykes) and "St. Margaret" (Peace); violin solos, "Andantino" (Pavle Martin) and "Tambourine" (Kreiser); Edward Galmbacher, chorus, "What Did He Do" (Grove) and "Love My Star" (Massengill); organ offertory, "Londonderry Air" (selected); Miss Esther Mau; violin solos, "Waltz in A Major" (Brahms); Hookstein) and "Moment Musical" (Schubert); Kreiser); Edward Galmbacher, chorus, "Adoration" (Beethoven) and "Diadem" (Eller); hymn, "Eventide"; congregation; Benediction, Rev. Robert E. Falk; postlude, "Festal March" (E. R. Rogers); Miss Esther Mau.

FIREMEN ALL DRESSED UP BUT JUST 2 YEARS LATE

Berlin—(AP)—The inhabitants of Raab, near the Bavarian-Austrian frontier, were not a little surprised when the volunteer fire brigade of the neighboring city of Tassau, on the Danube, appeared in full regalia to participate in a reunion of the fire brigades of the whole surrounding country.

"You are two years late," the chief of the Raab volunteer fire fighters politely told his visitors, at the same time diplomatically assuring them of his happiness at seeing them.

The Tassau chief, a neat, handwritten invitation out of his pocket. Both he and his colleague studied it intently, then burst into a hearty laugh. The invitation was indeed two years old. There had been a change of chiefs at Tassau and the departing chief, either intentionally or by accident, had placed the invitation among the correspondence awaiting his successor's disposal.

A SCENE FROM "LES MISERABLES" TO BE SHOWN MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY AT FISCHER'S APPLETON THEATRE.

Appleton Theatre for local showing beginning today for 3 days.

This picture, produced by the Société des Cinéromans of Paris is of epic proportions. It is said to have taken more than two years to produce at a cost running into millions of francs.

Many of the scenes of the French super picture were taken on the exact locations indicated by Victor Hugo in the novel. This entailed the necessity of reconstructing the main streets of the towns and villages in which the action takes place, to appear as they did a century ago. So intense was the interest of the French nation in the success of the gigantic motion picture enterprise that permission was readily granted by town authorities so that the reconstructors might do their work unhampered.

The streets of Paris could not of course, be reconstructed, but massive sets were built that are said to be remarkable for their fidelity to the period represented.

Leading actors from the French stage were engaged to portray the characters created by Hugo, Gabriel Gabrio appearing as Jean Valjean. The other principal roles are enacted by players of equal note and the extra players, all in period dress, number thousands.

In the finished film, as exhibited throughout France, there were more than six thousand separate scenes. So long was the complete picture that it was exhibited in a series of five showings.

Universal has reduced the picture to feature length, leaving out many of the side excursions so dear to the heart of the French and leaving only the highly dramatic substance of the story of Jean Valjean. According to reviewers in the several cities in which the picture has been shown in its present length, a gripping story unfolds on the screen in an astonishing succession of "big scenes."

SATURDAY GAMES RIFON V. LAWRENCE 6. COE V. KNOX 0. CORNELL V. MONMOUTH 0.

Lawrence college lost her annual football encounter with Ripon Saturday afternoon, 7 to 6, but showed that she can rise to the heights if given a little incentive at the crucial moments. Time and again with her back to the wall the Blue and White battled and threw back the opponents forcing them to lose the ball on downs. Only once did Lawrence enter Ripon territory more than five yards and that was the time Barrell ran 50 yards with a forward pass from Jessup and later plunged over for the touchdown. It was a 14-karat marker, as clean cut and real as a touchdown can be. On the other hand the score does not give Ripon all credit due her. Martin, Murchie and Rehl formed a backfield aggregation that kept Lawrence at sea as to what was coming next. When Martin wasn't passing or sliding off tackle it was Murchie. And when Murchie chose to rest, along came Rehl. Only the inability to stir up that little excess called extra punts kept the Crimson from at least two more counters and found her battling for possession of the ball on the Lawrence 10-yard line as the final whistle blew.

DEFENSE TO STRONG Defensively Lawrence played the best game of the home season, offensively she came through but once and scored a spectacular touchdown. The line at times looked bad, especially when Martin slid off left tackle, eluded the secondary defense and ran 50 yards for Ripon's only touchdown and when Rehl smashed the other side of the line for the extra point. Inability to smash up a forward passing attack was the main fault with the Blues but when things looked most serious the line braced splendidly and squelched every thing Ripon tried. Ripon found the aerial route easiest and used that method of attack continually after the first quarter. Long passes over the center of the line proved her most powerful weapon.

JESSUP BIG STAR Jessup was the big triple threat man for Lawrence Saturday and though he lost a few yards on the average exchange of punts his kicks were better than those of the last two weeks. Long end runs brought the big fellow little yardage but he was able to keep Ripon guessing about what he might do next and it was this that enabled him to toss that pass from field to the two yard line was one of the cleverest bits of open running since Eddie Kotel put his molasses away, as far as college days are concerned. Barrell is naturally a fast runner and the way he side-stepped, changed his pace and squirmed out of the arms of tacklers was the delight of the season. And when Humphrey failed to carry the ball over on the first line play "Bar" put his head down and smashed over with the ball.

The flashy little left half back also came in for his share of glory on the defense. Aided materially by Humphrey, they presented a secondary that few men not through. Humphrey's work was much better than he has shown so far this season for he was "talking it up" with the linemen and showed that with another year's experience he will have that attribute of a real defensive cutback, football instinct to enable him to figure where plays are coming through.

Ball carrying honors all go to Ripon for Lawrence's offense was all wrong. Brusatt who showed so well

Expect Hawkeyes To Give Badgers Plenty Of Fight

Madison — The Iowa-Wisconsin football game at Camp Randall Stadium Saturday, although having no direct bearing on the Conference title, will be a battle pitting to the eyes of the thousands of homecomers who will pack the stands. This game will be the tenth meeting of Wisconsin and Iowa on the gridiron.

On previous scores the Badgers may rule a slight favorite, but this season of upsets has proven that games can not be based on past performances. The Hawkeyes are not likely to play a victorious schedule, and it has long been their ambition to humble Wisconsin.

The ire of Ingwersen's boys has arisen afresh for the Gold and Black coach is pounding with disgust to the shame made by Iowa in the nine games with the Cardinal, and urged revenge.

The Hawks have won but a single contest in the history of their football relations with the Badgers, that being in 1924. That said, Ripon's eleven was handed a 21 to 7 licking by the boys from Iowa City.

In the early days the two teams battled just once. In the year 1904 Wisconsin took the Hawkeyes into an end run, Rehl 10 more and the ball was five yards down the goal line. The line played better two more yards and then Martin slid off tackle to put the ball on the Lawrence 10-yard line. Murchie was stopped dead, however, and Lawrence took the ball.

Jessup immediately punted to the Lawrence 30-yard line and on the first play Martin broke loose for 20 yards. Lawrence held for downs and when a goal pass was fumbled Halverson of Ripon recovered and ran over the goal line. The score did not count because a fumbled pass is dead where the ball touches the ground. The referee finished explaining the play to the teams.

MIAMI GRIDDERS CONTINUE TO WIN BATTLES IN SOUTH

5 Appleton Lads, 1 Neenah Lad Aid Cub Buck's Football Team to Victories

Continuing where it left off at the end of last season, the undefeated Miami university football team of Coral Gables Fla., has opened its 1927 grid schedule with two successive victories, trouncing Rollins college of Winter Park, Fla., 29-3, a week ago Saturday, and Piedmont college of Demarest, Ga., this last Saturday. The team is coached by H. P. "Doc" Buck, Neenah, former University of Wisconsin, all-American tackle and Green Bay Packer pro star, and it includes five Appleton youths and a Neenah lad in its lineup.

Last year playing as a freshman year because of its first successive year of organization, the Hurricanes won eight successive games, beating Rollins, Savannah, Mercer university, Stetson university, Loyola university of New Orleans, University of Louisiana, once at Miami and once at Havana, Cuba; and Howard college. The goal line was crossed only twice, once by Mercer which lost, 22-6, and once by Howard which lost, 3-7. The Hurricanes scored 122 points to opponents 13.

APPLETON MEN STAR

On that team Ted Bleier, former Appleton high and Lawrence freshman star, played fullback and Cliff Courtney, another old Orange and Lawrence frosh satellite, played quarter. Courtney's work featured every Hurricane win. This year besides Bleier and Courtney in the rear wall, Rod Ashman is playing end; Lloyd Solie, guard; Francis Hauser, tackle and George Morris, reserve tackle. Ashman, Solie and Morris are former Orange gridgers and Rod also won his letter as a freshman at Lawrence. Hauser is one of the best line men ever produced at Neenah high.

Ashman and Solie also are former Orange cage stars. The former is a three-letter man at caging at Lawrence, an all-state center, and center of the crack Blue team that won the Midwest conference, Little Five and Wisconsin state cage titles in one year. He was ineligible for football last fall but starred at end on the second team.

In basketball last year, Ashman and Courtney were regulars and Bleier was a sub. The cage squad won seven of eight games by record scores, including a 39-20 victory over the University of Florida and four games in which the Hurricanes total reached from 45 to 51 points. The only loss was at the hands of the University of Havana, 28-25. The team totaled 348 points in the eight games, or 44 points a game, to 170 for opponents. No cage game was lost on the home floor. Solie should make the squad also this year.

The Appleton lads also are prominent in other school activities. Morris is president of the freshman class, Courtney is president of the sophomore class, Ashman is vice president of the M. C. club, varsity letter winners, and Harry London, another local youth is manager of the school's crack swimming team. Individual pictures of Ashman, Bleier and Courtney appeared in the football programs of the school. Dr. B. F. Ashe, brother of William F. Ashe, Kaukauna, former Lawrence college freshman and Kaukauna American legion grid coach, is president of the new school.

This year the Hurricanes have been in training for almost a month at Coral Gables and they play a long ten game schedule ending with the New Year's day game. Besides the two games of the last two weeks, Rollins and Piedmont, the Miami men face Spring Hill college, Mobile, Ala., Friday, Nov. 11 (Armistice day); Stetson university of Deland, Fla., on Nov. 19; Howard college, Birmingham, Ala., on Thursday, Nov. 24 (Thanksgiving day); Oglethorpe university of Atlanta, Ga., on Dec. 3; Georgetown college of Georgetown, Ky., on Dec. 10; Georgia Tech, on Dec. 17; and the University of North Carolina, on Dec. 26 (Christmas) and Monday, Jan. 2 (New Years) are reserved for post-season games.

Saturday Miami's opponents scores were Georgetown 16, DePauw 14; Stetson 75, Rollins 6; Springfield 17, Miss. Teachers 0; Miss. College 12; Howard 9; Oglethorpe 14, Presbyterian 6.

EARL SANDE HOPES TO REGAIN LOST STANDING

Baltimore, Md. — (P) — Earl Sande, America's premier jockey, has hopes of being vindicated of the charges that caused the Maryland Racing Commission to bar him from all tracks in North America. "I am innocent of any wrong," he said, "and I hope to be vindicated and intend remaining here for the purpose of seeing this thing through."

The jockey has written asking the commission to grant him an opportunity to tell his story and to introduce three witnesses in his behalf. The witnesses he declares are all jockeys who rode in the Pimlico Futurity Friday when Sande is alleged to have deliberately cut in front of Reigh County, the favored horse, forcing him against the rail and ruining his stride.

The appeal was posted Sunday and Jervis Spencer, Jr., a member of the commission when told Sande's action said the commission would be willing to listen to anything the rider might have to say.

CARROLL SWAMPS CHICAGO Y SQUAD

Pioneers Have Little Trouble Downing Triangles, 27-6

Waukegan, — Carroll's Pioneers scored an impressive victory Saturday, when they downed the Chicago Y. M. C. A. college gridgers on the local field, 27-6. Only a handful of people braved the cold November weather to witness the game.

The first half was all Carroll's. Twelve first downs were credited to them to one for their opponents. Bizer and Lange were making the most ground for the Pioneers. Bizer scored the first touchdown for the Orange, when at the start of the second quarter he plunged off tackle to cross the goal. Carroll was having no difficulty at piercing the "Y" line, but a pass, Snyder to Dugan, came as a surprise and the Pioneers were in possession of another score. Lund kicked his second goal for the extra point.

The "Y" college, experiencing difficulty at making yards, unable to run the ends or hit the line, resorted to forward passes with a little more success. Fellenz replaced the demon Bizer and on his first attempt to carry the ball made a pretty 20-yard gain. A second run by the same man gave Carroll possession of the ball on the one-yard line, where Lange pushed over to score as the half ended. Reagan booted the ball over to make the count 21-0.

The second half found a spirited "Y" team fighting desperately to overcome the lead of the first half. The Chicago team started an aerial attack and made several first downs before the Pioneers realized what was happening. A couple of breaks gave the ball a short distance from the goal and Ashman scored a touchdown. In the fourth quarter, with the count 27-0 against them, the "Y" collegians opened up with passes in all directions. A beautiful Ye, Williams to Peach, was good for Y. M. C. A.'s only score.

CHICAGO STRONG IN SECOND HALF

The Chicago college made 10 first downs to Carroll's 4 in the second half. Williams and Poston were the mainstays for the "Y" college. Bizer Dugan, Jerzewsky and Lange were outstanding in Carroll's victory.

BADGERS, AVALANCHE, WORK HARD FOR GAMES

Milwaukee — (P) — Wisconsin's major representatives of the gridiron, Glenn Thistledwaite's Badgers and the Golden Avalanche of Marquette, began intensive preparations Monday for what are expected to be hard games next Saturday after turning in comparatively easy victories on Saturday. The varsity enjoyed a respite at Camp Randall while an ambitious second string eleven walked over Grinnell college, 20 to 2. Marquette's Hilltoppers invaded St. Louis and humbled St. Louis University, 26 to 0.

Coach Thistledwaite returned from Iowa City where he watched Wisconsin's homecoming loss to the powerful Illinois, and indicated that the Hawkeyes may give Wisconsin a hard fight. Thousands of old grads will be in the stands at Camp Randall Saturday for the annual homecoming celebration.

Coach Murray's Marquette warriors will be the underdog in the hope for their intersectional battle here this weekend and with Holy Cross but the Milwaukee team has shown potential power in their last two games and may upset the easterners.

Rivers Falls teachers college scored a 12-0 victory over Superior Normal at Rivers Falls in a hard fought tussle. The Falls team must defeat LaCrosse to capture the state title. The latter team travelled out of the state Saturday and whipped Luther College at Decorah Iowa, 13-0.

The Oshkosh teachers ran up against a strong eleven in Western State of Oshkosh, Wis., and submitted to the tangle 19-0. Oshkosh's Comets completely outplayed in the first half at which point Oshkosh was leading 6-0 the Michigan team came back and swept through the local team for three touchdowns in the third period.

Stout Institute celebrated its homecoming festivities at Menomonie with an 8-0 triumph over Eau Claire Normal its first conference victory. Carroll had little difficulty in defeating the Chicago Y. M. C. A. gridgers at Waukegan, Wis., and submitted to the tangle 27-6 in a game featured by spectacular forward passes. Ripon college was barely able to ek out a 7-5 victory over Lawrence at Appleton in the last home game of the season for the Vikings. Rehl's smash off tackle for the extra point after a Ripon touchdown in the second quarter was the margin of victory. Lawrence's counter came in the third period from a brilliant run of 50 yards by Rehl. The Viking left half, but the try for the extra point failed.

Darkness spread a thick mantle over the woods long before preparations had been made for the night. There was plenty of wood, and Darling heaped it upon the fire. The boys lounged, dreamy and silent, in the warmth of the bright blaze. After a period of that dreamy silence, Jack turned his gaze from the fire without moving his head, and saw the white deer!

HEALTH BOARD ASKS RESIDENTS OF CITY TO BE INOCULATED

Declares Diphtheria Can Be Prevented by Use of Toxin- antitoxin Treatment

Use of toxin-antitoxin to check the spread of diphtheria in Appleton is recommended in a proclamation issued Monday by the board of health. The proclamation followed reports of two new cases of diphtheria in the city over the weekend.

There now are a total of seven cases of diphtheria in Appleton, according to a report issued Monday by Dr. F. F. Doherty, city health officer. Of these, one is in First ward, three are in the Fifth ward and three are in the Third ward.

Dr. Doherty made the following statement Monday:

"We have had a number of cases of diphtheria in the city. We should have none but until the people generally avail themselves of preventative treatment we will always have some cases.

THREE INOCULATIONS
"The preventative treatment consists of three inoculations, one week apart. This furnishes protection from diphtheria for a good many years and sometimes for life."

"I have canvassed the medical profession of the city and I find that about 90 per cent have availed themselves of the preventative treatment. This is fine and a stimulation to others who are on the fence."

"With some people a case in their block makes them prick up their ears, others need a case next door, while some require a death in the family to make them taken notice."

The toxin-antitoxin treatment has the unanimous endorsement of the board of health of Appleton. We do not wish to alarm but it is high time to act to control an absolutely preventable disease.

STRICT QUARANTINE
"We maintain a strict quarantine and no case is released until we have two negative cultures from every member of the household exposed or who have had the disease."

"The cases arise but from all parts of the city. Adults are among the cases as well as children and some of the children are of less than school age."

One of the two new cases of diphtheria is in the Fifth ward and was reported Saturday and the other is in the Third ward and was reported Sunday. Both are children, one being of school age.

Further households in the city are under quarantine, three for whooping cough and one for scarlet fever.

BURNS ACCUSES U. S. COUNSEL IN OIL CASE

the Burns men at the Wardman Park hotel ten days ago.

Among them was the "special report" from Operative M-20, saying that he had gone to Washington on instructions from W. J. B.

NO NEED FOR RAID
Burns said there was no necessity for federal agents to carry out the raid on the headquarters of his men; that Charles G. Rutter, the operative in charge, would be gladly handed over the reports and any other information had he been asked for them.

Leaving the office after 15 minutes the detective said that Douglas, Catchim, former assistant manager of the Burns Washington bureau, had no connection with his agency for six weeks. Catchim is the man reported to have said he would be fired for life if he could get away for a while.

After interviewing Catchim, who enlisted in the marine corps on Oct. 28, and who was served with a subpoena at the Hampton Roads Naval base last week, Catchim was in full uniform and was accompanied by a marine sergeant.

John Dowling, the sergeant accompanying Catchim, said the young marine was under guard and was instructed to talk to no one except the district attorney and the grand jury.

"If he opens his mouth to anybody else, I'll put him under arrest," Dowling told newspaper men.

The "special report" submitted by M-20 and made the day after the jury was sworn in, follows:

"Washington, D. C., Wednesday, Oct. 19, 1927. New York operator NX-5023. New York investigator M-20 reports:

"Pursuant to instructions from Principal W. J. B. I left agency at 12 noon, packed bag and proceeded to Washington, D. C., to meet Manager C. G. R. S. Upon arrival, I was given juror No. 10—Goucher as my subject. I checked into the Washington hotel and discontinued. Expenses $17.50. Time 1 day."

PASSENGER BADLY CUT WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Edmund Burke, 557 N. Garfield-st., was badly cut about the head when the machine in which he was riding struck a car owned and driven by Robert Hauch, Shamane, at the corner of W. College-ave and Walnut-st about 5:30 Sunday afternoon. The machine in which Burke was riding was owned and driven by Clem Nafelt, 1507 W. Franklin-st. Nafelt and Hauch were uninjured.

Burke was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital and was released Monday. He had severe cuts above both temples and a bad bruise above one eye. The front of Nafelt's machine and the left side of Hauch's machine were demolished.

P-T CLUB MEETING

Ren J. Bohm, superintendent of school, will speak at the Parent Teachers association at 7:30 Monday evening at the First ward school. A musical program will also be given.

State Toxicologist Has Many Malodorous Tasks

Madison—(P)—Many and malodorous are the duties of Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, state toxicologist. His business is investigating cases of poisoning. In performing his work he must be every thing from physician to chemist to expert witness and must sometimes use fluids and must sometimes use the qualities of perfume.

But Dr. Muehlberger's olfactory sense has been dulled.

"I get used to it," he says, "and after I'm in the room a while I don't smell a thing."

A person dies in Green Bay, Superior, Janesville, or some other city or town in Wisconsin. The coroner or district attorney or both find circumstances indicating an unnatural death. They send the digestive tract to Dr. Muehlberger.

Divided each of his portions is used for a different chemical test. If the circumstances of the man's death are known it will make the work simpler, and results may be obtained with 24 hours. Otherwise, it may take as long as a week before it can be decided whether poisoning caused the death and if so what kind.

If traces of poison are found, Dr. Muehlberger may be called upon to testify in court. That is one of the reasons why he likes his job.

LIKES TO TESTIFY
"I think the chief inducement is being examined by a defense attorney who is trying to get you to say something you don't mean," he said.

Since the office of state toxicologist was authorized in 1923 by an act of legislature, there have been 135 cases of this kind sent in by district attorneys. The employment of a toxicologist by the state takes a burden of expense off the counties, and in many cases results in the prosecution of cases that might otherwise be dropped because the county could not incur the expense of hiring a toxicologist. For a big case, the expense might be between $500 and $1,000, according to Dr. Muehlberger.

The analysis of human organs for traces of poison requires infinitely careful work. In the first place, the toxicologist must purify his own chemicals, for when he goes on the witness stand, he must be able to testify for a certainty that poison could not have gotten into the test from the chemicals used.

The entire stomach is divided for the tests. When they are completed, there is no organ left, and if a mistake has been made it is impossible to re-test.

GOSSIP IS BLAMED
Many of the cases handled by Dr. Muehlberger never come into court. Poison may not be discovered or if found, someone may plead guilty, and no trial is necessary.

Gossip is at the bottom of many cases brought to Dr. Muehlberger, he said. "Death under peculiar circumstances always arouses talk in a community. If the suspicious are groundless, the analysis of the toxicologist will set the gossip at rest, and clear the reputation of an innocent person."

Not all cases have a solution to be solved by the expert, he said. "Last February a prominent man in Sheboygan was found dead in his garage," Dr. Muehlberger related. "The incident created a great deal of excitement and there were rumors of foul play and suicide. The internal organs and blood samples were sent here, and it was found that the blood was saturated with carbon monoxide, the gas from the automobile exhaust. It never has been settled whether the death was suicidal or accidental."

Although the statute creating his office specifies that the work of the state toxicologist shall be that of assisting prosecuting attorneys when called upon, Dr. Muehlberger does not confine himself to his statutory duties.

"I feel it is my duty to protect the people of the state from poisoning of any kind," he says.

FOUND SUBSTITUTE
Some time ago it was discovered a certain shoe dye made in the state was poisoning people by being absorbed through the skin of the feet. Dr. Muehlberger investigated and showed the manufacturer how to use a substitute for the poisonous ingredient.

Cases of poisoning of animals also come to his attention.

"Every time I hear of a farmer's cattle being poisoned, I immediately inquire if his pasture adjoins a railroad right of way," he says.

This spring it was discovered that a railroad was using sodium arsenite to kill weeds along its right of way. In two weeks, there were six cases of cattle having broken through fences and eaten the weeds, which had an agreeable salty taste as a result of the treatment. They were killed by the arsenic in the treatment.

Dr. Muehlberger is often consulted by departments of state government, such as the board of health and the industrial commission. With the industrial commission, he is working on the problem of poison greworks. Some varieties of "snake" tablets, the little pellets which when ignited turn into long snaky curls, contain a deadly poison. Small children may put these into their mouths and be fatally poisoned.

Building permits were granted Monday by the city building inspector for the following construction work: Gustav Leisinger, 901 N. Harrison-ave, parlor; Herman Rehder, 1201 W. Packard-st, garage; Anton Stadler, 1222 Madison-st, garage.

CHILDREN ON RANGE ARE TRAINED YOUNG

Meet Difficulties of Pioneer at Early Age in Helping Their Dads

Stamford, Texas.—(P)—The qualities which made for pioneer hardihood are being bred into the bones of the younger generation of the range country.

Children begin at kindergarten age out here to learn self-reliance, by being allowed to take part in grown-up affairs. Every time they are riding horses and during the work of the range with the cock-sureness of their elders.

Recently Roy Spries, Jr., 5, was helping his father load 20 cars of cattle at Maryland. The horse that the diminutive rider was astride heard the puff of a train and wheeled suddenly only to see another train and whirl again. Roy, Jr. was dumped unceremoniously on the ground. It was a hard fall, but he climbed back on his mount and continued working, with no word to his father.

The lad has been riding since he was three, and his nine-year-old sister works cattle like a seasoned hand. "She has a lot of sense about cattle," her father says.

O. W. Cardwell of Junction has a family of seven children, every one of whom rides a horse and helps on the ranch. He puts them on horseback when they are about 3 years old and has them about 5 and 10 years old now, are playing polo with the cowboys on the range.

Tommie Smith, 10, daughter of a Crockett-co ranchman, has been riding since she was three and for the last year or two she has been riding range with her father, who admits she can spot an ailing sheep as quickly as he can.

In San Angelo a group of young women who have been riding horses almost since infancy, have formed what is believed to be the only amateur polo club in the west composed entirely of women.

Citizens of Each City Involved

Madison.—(AP)—Eighteen Wisconsin cities no longer satisfied to boast of having the "fine" finest town in the state; they are now conducting investigations to ascertain just how they measure up with other cities and with minimum standards established by authorities in all phases of civic life, including education, industry, municipal government, recreation, city planning, social work, library, town and country relations, and legislation.

This information from Aubrey Williams, Madison, general secretary of the Wisconsin conference of social work, under whose guidance and leadership the investigations are conducted.

The survey is not, Mr. Williams explained, made by "imported experts," but by citizens of the community, who wish to find out for themselves just what ways their city compares, not just what it needs to make it a better "home town."

The cities which have turned the spotlight of self-analysis upon themselves are Kenosha, Janesville, Waukesha, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Waupun, Wausau, Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Sparta, LaCrosse, Lake Geneva, Tomahawk, Wisconsin Rapids, Ladysmith and Ashland.

Six months are required for the completion of such a survey. It is carried out by citizens of the community, working under a general chairman. Under his guidance, groups are assigned to study the housing conditions of the city, the educational and recreational facilities. In the diagnosis a stethoscope is applied to the civic and social structure to see if its heartbeats are regular; a thermometer is placed under the tongue of industrial activity to learn if it is functioning properly; the tongue of municipal administration is examined to see that its organs are uninfected.

SENT TO JUDGES
Detailed reports on each phase of the investigation are prepared by sub-committees, and are sent to Mr. Williams, who in turn transmits them to nationally-known authorities who act as judges and appraise and evaluate the situation, and let the citizens know how they measure up to accepted standards.

Each judge, or appraiser, returns his report to Mr. Williams, with a score marked on it, indicating the extent to which the city measures up to standard. The reports are then combined into one volume, and returned to the city in which the survey is made, with suggestion for city improvement. These suggestions are not merely academic, says Mr. Williams, but are put to practical use by the cities. Sheboygan, he says, found it short in city planning, so it employed a city planner. It discovered that it lacked sufficient park acreage, and has doubled its expenditures for parks; it found it lacked proper recreational facilities, and now has full-time recreation program with a trained man at its head.

There is no desire, Mr. Williams explains, to standardize communities; the nature of the measurements is elastic, and that they are adjusted each year to suit changing conditions.

MEASURING STICKS
"Such investigation and report provide the communities with a chance to use the most recent developments in the various fields of education, government, social work, and other phases of city life," he says. "They provide a measuring stick by which a group of citizens can gauge their city."

and learn how nearly it approaches 100 per cent perfection; they can see how its housing conditions compare with the minimum requirements in housing conditions established by authorities in that field. In order that the thing may have flesh and blood and meat, it is arranged for the citizens to do their own investigating, rather than utilize experts from outside.

Most civic improvement work in the past, says Mr. Williams, has been carried on by blind enthusiasm, and has not been based upon the actual civic or social needs of the town. Often, he claims, a boys' program has been launched by men's clubs, when other problems existed which needed attention more. Perhaps at the same time the boys program is put on, there exists in that city an antiquated jail incarceration system for children, under which young criminals are kept in the company of hardened ones, "so often," Mr. Williams says, "such schemes have gone off half-cocked without taking into consideration actual needs. What they lacked was a plan of civic work."

A state-wide contest is planned, to end in 1930, at which time, says Mr. Williams, a prize will be awarded to the community which can prove itself, by these measuring sticks, to be the "one best place in the state of Wisconsin in which to live." To that community will be presented a statue depicting "civic virtue and intelligent activity."
